Playing dress up and rounding up immigrants into concentration camps seems like an odd combination for a Jewish man to participate in for his work and free time. Where are those 'authentic' Biblical morals that we admire so much in our Jewish brothers and sisters?

 AI Overview  +8

Based on recent, late-2025/early-2026 reporting, Stephen Miller has been the subject of intense scrutiny from The New Republic (TNR), particularly regarding his role as a key advisor to Donald Trump on immigration and policy, culminating in his designation as a major "scoundrel" of 2025.

- Scoundrel of the Year: The New Republic named Stephen Miller their "2025 Scoundrel of the Year," focusing on his efforts to reshape immigration policy and create what they described as a "MAGA terror state".
- "Dark Plot" Coverage: In December 2025, TNR ran a deep dive titled "Inside Stephen Miller's Dark Plot to Build a MAGA Terror State," detailing his influence on immigration and the administration's, at times, unlawful tactics.
- Targeting Activists & Media: TNR has heavily covered Miller's rhetoric, including his calls to treat certain activists as domestic terrorists and his threats against progressive NGOs.
- Unhinged Public Appearances: TNR and other outlets have documented instances where Miller appeared "unhinged" or "manic" in interviews, particularly when defending contentious policies like the detainment and deportation of immigrants.
- Internal Backlash: Recent TNR articles have also highlighted internal strife, noting that other Trump advisers have "quietly turned on" Miller following the fallout from the killing of an ICU nurse by federal agents.

These articles frequently depict Miller as the architect of a, as they describe, harsh, anti-immigrant agenda that pushed the boundaries of law and policy.
